Why this matters now

The future of hiring won't be shaped by theory – it will be shaped by the decisions talent leaders make around transformation, operations, and how teams adapt in the years ahead.

Moment brings together a curated group of enterprise TA leaders for candid conversations about what's actually working, where teams are struggling, and how hiring organizations are evolving in the AI era.

Navigate AI transformation with confidence

Understand how leading talent teams are approaching AI adoption, operational change, and measuring the real impact of AI across hiring operations.

Learn from proven best practices

Hear directly from enterprise TA leaders who are addressing hiring slowdowns, operational pressure, scheduling complexity, and evolving candidate expectations at scale.

Build trusted relationships with peers

Connect with senior talent leaders in an intimate environment designed for honest conversations, shared experiences, and meaningful exchange.

Leave with actionable ideas

Walk away with practical strategies, fresh perspectives, and ideas you can bring back to your team immediately.
